

UMA Rector Visits Events North Sumatra High Education Week 2020

The Directorate General of Higher Education through the North Sumatra Region I Higher Education Service Institution (LLDikti) held the North Sumatra Higher Education Week in 2020, followed by universities in the North Sumatra Region I LLDikti.

The activity took place on 11 - 13 February 2020 at the Ringroad Citywalks Mall, Jalan Gagak Hitam Medan as a forum to introduce universities as well as to show the legality of the institution and its accreditation to the public.

The cast activities should be conveyed to the public with the aim of showing that state and private universities are of good quality and can develop higher education tridharma, both lecturers and students.

The PTS and PTN activities that participated in the exhibition each had their characteristics in the form of ideas that they could develop to the community.

One of the activities exhibited by Medan Area University Psychology students is an IQ test that aims to obtain scores that can reflect the level of intelligence of individuals who carry out the IQ test, there are several kinds of IQ tests in the form of written questions and questions in the form of images.

Many high school students take IQ tests by UMA psychology faculty students and this is an opportunity for prospective students to choose the campus they want.
